Lean Crops Follow years of Abundance

TORONTO—"Nature is rude and in-comprehensible."

Incomprehensible enough; and rude, when you consider the rough and ready manner in which she shatters the hopes, desires and calculations of most respectable crop experts and others of that ilk, who undertake to tell us months in advance just what we may expect in the way of crops for the coming season.

Barely the "experts" never were so far out in their calculations as to the future and size of this year's crops.

Most learned treatise have been written within the past two months, based on too hastily arrived at assumptions and conclusions as to seasons' growth, and purporting to show what serious effects on the business of the country they then prevail. The scarcity and dearth of wheat in which came nature's delights in making "ducks and drakes" of poor human calculations, may be seen in a brief examination of crop reports from various sources, official and unofficial, in the past three or four months.

Early in March we had reports, unofficial, showing farm reserves, then in the hands of the U.S. farmer, and still 14 million to as high as 152 million bushels of wheat.

The unofficial figures were subsequently practically confirmed officially in the government report which followed.

"These reserves" constituted, in part the "three surplus" of wheat which figured so prominently in the early spring months, and for which it was feared, there would be little or no demand in the world's markets.

"This period of low prices and large 'carry overs' was the result of two years of abnormally favorable climatic conditions in both Canada and the United States. Approximately, the crop yields of these two years of high production were for the year 1927, in Canada, 480 million bushels, and in 1928, Canada produced 531 million bushels.

The United States for the same two years produced in 1927, a crop of 878 million bushels, and last year the total crop was in the neighborhood of 900 million bushels.

On top of the huge surpluses and "carry overs" which for many weeks in this year were such a depressing factor in market prices, came the early crop estimates for the coming season of 1929.

Estimates in April for the winter wheat crop of the States ran from 567 to as high as 590 million bushels. By the first of June, after going safely through various vicissitudes of "winter killings" and other menaces to the wheat crop, the estimates had risen to an estimated yield of anywhere from 595 million to 649 million bushels. The Government June report gave an estimate of 632 million bushels.

A month ago it began to look as though another flood of wheat was going to deluge the world's markets, and that prices were destined to reach lower depths than ever.

But though prices might be low, and economic the general business of the country adversely affected, there would at least be no scarcity of wheat in the world, and therefore no real need for the hungry to go empty away.

And now comes along dark nature, and for some incomprehensible reason or no reason, completely changes the picture for the world's crop, and incidentally laughs in their fierce heat of the day, as fields dry up, and crops wither, for lack of beneficial rains. Truly who sets at naught the scientific calculations of the world's best known and highly esteemed crop experts.

BUILDING BURNS AT DALEMEAD

By Charles H. Horstra
— Special to "The Standard" —
Last Tuesday fire broke out in the D. S. Orton store, completely burning it down, leaving nothing but a black, smouldering remains in the cellar below.

Breaking out at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the fire was first noticed by Fred Yed, who had been destroying some old boxes across the street. Entering the front door, he was met by a cloud of smoke. Running into the store, at great risk to himself, he saved the cash register, but after that he was impossible to get anything more out of the burning building.

Shortly after the fire had broken out, a heavy alarm siren filled Dalemead with farmers from the surrounding district. The rest of the business section of town includes three homes, post office, and store, but a few residents.

STRATHMORE STAMPEDE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The Treasurer submitted the Financial Statement, and this was passed after discussion.

It was decided on the motion of M. A. Reilinger, seconded by F. A. Cott that funds be raised to pay for the material used in the erection of the corral in place of returning the fund by subscription.

Manager L. Hill was appointed to take steps regarding the raising of funds by subscription.

A vote of thanks was accorded to all who assisted on the motion of M. A. Reilinger, seconded by F. A. Cott, and satisfaction was expressed at the fine showing made this year in spite of several handicaps.

The Secretary was instructed to write Mr. A. Layzell, thanking him for the donation of a bicycle.

A Camping Vacation

The school term ended, the roads in splendid condition the car running with a contented purr, is a combination of the best of all worlds, the thoughts to a camping vacation.

The people of Alberta are so fortunate in having many natural beauties spots a short ride from the back door that this form of holiday is becoming most popular every year. It is economical and it is healthy if certain precautions are taken.

Care should be taken to find out if all drinking water is pure. If this cannot be ascertained then the water should be boiled or chlorinated. The latter is a very simple proceeding, any druggist will supply the lime and give the few necessary instructions.

If there is a baby or a toddler in the party who must have milk, it is a wise proceeding to pasteurize it. No one can be sure if the milk bottle has come from an infection free animal. Before driving into a likely looking place for the morning splash be sure there are neither rocks nor rocks. Do not bathe when very hot or immediately after a heavy meal. It would aid to the safety of the party if at least one member could swim well. Carry simple First Aid Kit.

Literature on First Aid can be obtained free from the Canadian Red Cross Society 407 Civic Block, Edmonton, Alta.

Calgary Flower Festival

The Flower Festival will be held in Calgary August 27th to 29th inclusive in the Victoria Annex, which is a wonderful place for horticultural exhibition.

They undertake when necessary, to freshen up the exhibits, and are ready and anxious to reciprocate with your exhibition. This exhibition typifies the horticultural development of the province. Last year about 4,000 persons attended the show, which is a splendid testimony of Alberta gardeners, amateur and professional.

Sir Henry Thornton To Remain C.N.R.

MONTREAL—Sir Henry Thornton will continue as president of the Canadian National Railroad for some years to come despite the recent rumors that he had been requested by the Mexican government to go to that country to put into operation the plan for the reorganization of the railroad systems of that country, which he developed last year. Sir Henry is especially interested at the present time in considering the problem of aviation as it affects the railroad.

In an interview granted this week he said that there was every possibility of the National road following the example of some of the United States roads in combining the two services in a day and night service. This will not be done, however, until the conditions of passenger traffic war rent the outlay which this new step would involve.

"My work in Mexico is done," the genius of transportation said in his genial, friendly manner. "I was consulted in the same capacity as you would consult the engineers or experts of another. When my report was finished and submitted my job was done. There was no question of a permanent Mexican connection in my mind."

On the matter of airplane and train service Sir Henry expanded. He related his interest in aviation as a practically assured method of transportation by paying high tribute to the recent opening of Montreal, N.H. municipal airport which he attended as a speaker.

"The remarkable attendance indicated the rapid development of public interest in this swift and novel form of travel," he said. "I was agreeably surprised at the enthusiasm displayed by the Maritime Provinces."

"Yes," he replied as the Star reminded him that aeroplane's train service was opening in the United States. "Ultimately we will have to follow suit. The New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads are both starting services which permits of travel by airplane by day and train by night. We will do the same thing when the demand is great enough."

Canadian Pacific Crop Report

WINNIPEG, Man., July 22—Extreme heat accompanied by hot drying wind in some districts intensify the pressure of rains on the prairies, especially in Alberta, reports the General Agricultural Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway this morning. Scattered showers of several hours heavy rain fell in some districts during the week of the last atmosphere and absence of any general precipitation has rendered the crop condition less promising than last week. A large percent of what is now in head and some of the early varieties in flower and milk stage on straw ranging from 14 to 20 inches, with some shorter and some fields considerably higher, much of the crop is in the hands of the farmer. Oats and barley are backward and generally on the short side, with some of the former and much of the latter in the straw, but require much moisture to produce even a fair crop of feed in the drought districts.

Taking the situation as a whole, it is difficult to definitely forecast the outcome of the present spring condition of the crop as much depends on receipt of frequent rains to develop and fill the heads already short. Much of the summerfall grain is holding up well, but stubble, fall and spring plowed crops are almost a failure, and are being abandoned or used for pasture, this being particularly the case in northeastern and central Alberta, south central and some eastern Saskatchewan, and at scattered points in Manitoba.

MOTORIST FROM BALTIMORE BOOSTS ALBERTA SERVICES

Lavish praise on services given by the Alberta Motor Association to American tourists was recently bestowed by Frank Bell, heading from Baltimore, Maryland. When he returns home, after his 6,000 mile trip, he intends to give full publicity to the wonderful services of the A.M.A.

Some weeks ago Mr. Bell decided to make the trip to attend the Calgary Stampede. He made inquiries at his home motor club and was told that the roads were about impassable. Then he decided to try the A.M.A. branch in Calgary and was told that he could be routed through in less than half the time he had been told to take. Back came Mr. Bell with a request for road information covering the entire route, and necessary hotel accommodation. Everything was arranged and carried out with the result that Mr. Bell arrived in Calgary three hours ahead of schedule and time of reservations made at the Fairview Hotel. He took in the Stampede with his family and then left on a further trip into the mountains after receiving full information.

"When I get back home, I will certainly tell the people all about how easy it is to travel in Canada, and the friendliness of the Canadian people," said Mr. Bell. "I was also greatly aided by the accurate information from your auto clubs. I intend to send a large number of motorists to Alberta next year to see the wonderful scenery and the sights we have seen on this very, very enjoyable holiday trip."

OKANAGAN YIELD LOWER BUT QUALITY BETTER

VANCOUVER, B.C.—Reports indicate that the Okanagan will have a production of the highest grade of apples this year, slightly less in quantity than last year. Last year there were 4,000,000 boxes valued at $8,000,000; this year the quantity will be less but the quality better, according to indications.

WHAT ABOUT THE WHEAT MARKET

TORONTO—The public are encouraged to come into the market and offices of brokers which have been almost deserted in recent months are filled with customers, but so rapid has been the advance that the participation is still decidedly limited in comparison with that during previous bull markets. Few people are hardly enough to sell wheat short in view of present conditions, and the market was able to buy without putting prices up still further was profited taking on the part of satisfied holders. As is usual in an advancing market, many predictions of higher prices are made, and the possibility of two dollar wheat is freely mentioned. Such ideas are necessarily based not upon anything that has yet occurred, but on the possibility of still further recovery with corresponding depreciation in Australia and the Argentine. Until such conditions actually materialize, advances in the market might be made more slowly and with greater possibility of set backs. There is still a great deal of wheat in the world, both the carry-over from last year and the big winter wheat crop in the United States just now coming into the market. Buyers should be very cautious not to accept the advance in our market. They make future commitments with reluctance.

A level of $1.50 for wheat does not represent any very high price in comparison with previous levels, and the changing value of the dollar, and real world scarcity, if it later develops, might be reflected in prices still higher than those now prevailing. Our own wheat has been the strongest market factor in the recent advance. From now on conditions in other parts of the world must be taken into account in calculating market probabilities.

SPORT NOTES

AGUA CALIENTE A PRETENTIOUS RACING PLANT

The first annual race meeting of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, which will be the Tijuana Jockey Club, will open on Saturday, December 28, next, and continue for 81 days, until Sunday, March 30, of next year, according to a communication from President Wirt O. Bowman and General Manager James N. Crofton. These two, with James W. Crofton, pioneer of horse racing in Baja California since 1915, when he opened the Tijuana course, and Baron H. Long, constitute the "Big Four" of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, and, incidentally, of the "sport of kings" on the Pacific Coast. Work on the $2,000,000 plant, that promises to be the most distinctive, picturesque and up-to-date extant, is going ahead apace. Foundations for the grand stand, clubhouse, paddock and stables are now being constructed. Thirty-five concrete stables are to be built, to accommodate some 800 racers. The foundations on half a dozen of these stables are already in. The stables alone will require 1,000 cubic yards of concrete, and over 40,000 square feet of special galvanized roofing. Thirty carloads of cement will be used in the construction of the stables, and over 150 carloads, on the entire job. Tommy Gorman, the Ottawa official, who is to be assistant manager of the new course, will be there by October 1. Meanwhile, he has for several seasons at Tijuana, will wind up his duties on the Canadian circuit at Woodbine Park, Sept. 28, and the next day will be winging it westward in a "baby" plane.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

Showing the popularity of the Public Golf courses, both Municipal and otherwise, in Winnipeg, recently at Deer Lodge, 225 players were accounted on Sunday and 275 the previous Saturday. Kildonan had the same Sunday, 318 players, and 285 on Saturday, while the Windsor Park Club had a registration of 452 and 312, respectively. These three courses during the weekend had therefore a total of 2567 players. In addition Kildonan and Kildonan courses which are also open to the public had large registrations. With 21 golf clubs, private and public, all told, Winnipeg claims to be the golf city for its size (190,000 inhabitants) in America. And it looks as though the claim was justified.

Cyril Tolley, who recently for the second time won the British Amateur championship title on the 11th of August for the States to take part in the American amateur at Del Monte the week of September 2nd. He will be accompanied by E. Storey, Dalhousie and Major Guy Campbell, The Banff Britisher, who is the first amateur driver of the World's longest amateur drive will be a colorful entrant and may go far although it is hardly thought that he can duplicate the exploits of his fellow-countryman, "Paddy" Perkins, who was runner-up to Bobby Jones last year. Storey too, is a very good player, a former Captain of the Cambridge team. Both have played in the States and Canada with the Walker Cup team. The other members of the party are not golfers of first class rank. Perkins by the way, is to take up his permanent residence in New York in a couple of months or so, where he has secured a good position with a Food Company. He will be a constant loss to British golf as he is generally considered that he is the best amateur player developed these since the war. Perkins makes the fourth brilliant amateur the next year to forsake the Mother Country for the States. The others are: Tommy Armour, Willie Hunter (also like Perkins a former British amateur champion) and Bobby Cruikshank. The latter three have all turned professionals to have secured financial advantage. It was rumored that Perkins too, would join the paid brigade, but he strenuously denies this.

By winning the Ontario Championship for the third time in succession, last week at the London Hunt Club, Ross (Sandie) Somerville, equals the record of George S. Lyon, who over two decades ago, three years in a row, 1905, 1906 and 1907, annexed the Canadian title. Somerville is playing a great golf this season, possibly the greatest in his brilliant career, and he has already been installed a warm favorite to again capture the Ontario Championship at Jasper Park next month where he will defend his title for the second time last year at Montreal. After playing at Jasper, Somerville will go on to California to participate in the U. S. Amateur. He made a very good showing in this major event last year, as he is playing an exceptionally sound game. From "tee to tin." He will, however, have very stout opposition at Jasper Park for the first time in the history of the event, all the leading players from British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Quebec will be there with a sprinkling of high-class U. S. players. The player who comes through at Jasper which has one of the finest championship courses on the Continent, will have no "primrose path to tread".

"Bill" Fox, the professional of the Clair Country Club, near Windsor, Ont. recently carded a 62 which is inclined to think is a record for an 18-hole course in Canada. And this is how it was done: Out, 543, 224, 312, 51; In—244, 244, 244, 244. The score for the course is 72 so Fox beat "Old Man Par" by 9 strokes. He had five birdies going out and five coming in. Altogether a nice flock of ten which is pretty good going.

It has often been said that Abe Mitchell is the greatest golfer who has never won an Open Championship. However, he has at last crashed through, last week winning the Irish Open after a playoff of a triple tie. Archie Compston and Len Holland having scores at the end of the 72-hole round of 208, the same as Mitchell. In the playoff, 24 holes, Abe carded 12, Compston, 152 and Holland, 180. The scoring was high throughout the Championship as a result of triple tie games which swept the week-end course at Portmarnock—Ireland's most celebrated links.

Mitchell has never before been a "yard and pencil artist". At match play however he had been very successful. He was runner-up in the British Amateur in 1912 (the following year he turned professional). He won the 42nd Tournament in 1919 and 1927. The Claret Tournament in 1921 and 1927. The Roshamone Tournament in 1927 and other lesser events. He was runner-up in the British Open in 1914 and also to tie this year in a similar position, with Percy Allis.

Mitchell pleads guilty to being 12, so he has not many more championship golfing years ahead of him. He is private professional to Mr. Sam Ryder the rich English seed merchant and the donor of the Ryder Cup recently won by the British team from the Americans, who captured it last year. He has twice visited the United States and Canada with George Duncan, successfully taking part in a large number of profitable exhibition matches. He made himself extremely popular in this country. He is a grand but unassuming suffer, unfortunately not blessed with robust health, and now that he has at last broken the mental play box, may yet win the British Open which by right of play, should have been his more than once.

DOMINION BUILDING SURVEY SHOWS UNPARALLELED ACTIVITY

TORONTO—Unparalleled activity in the construction field is shown by a survey for the past six months which has just been completed by the Daily Commercial News and Building (editorial) of the United Kingdom. With approximately $250,000,000 worth awarded during the month of June throughout the Dominion, the total value of contracts let during the first half of the year is about $250,000,000 or $250,000,000 more than the same period in 1928.

The aggregate value of building permits issued in the half year by 30 representative cities has shown a 25 per cent increase, being $78,575,250 for 1929, as compared with $72,845,000.

And that activity will be well maintained during the balance of 1929 and into the following year is indicated by the number of important projects which have been announced for the immediate future.

While a summer slump may be expected, over $200,000,000 of new construction was stated to be contemplated in the month of June. The beginning of operations in connection with this program, scheduled for the fall and early spring, together with the commencement of other works previously announced, should see the industry well employed.

Possibly the most interesting trend during the last six months has been in the development of electric power. Within the $250,000,000 of new construction approved by the Dominion government, and preliminaries to be begun before the end of the year, a great industrial expansion is prepared in the Upper St. Lawrence valley.

No less marked an effect should proceed from the carrying out of the Ottawa Hydro electric power commission's plans for the Ottawa valley, and the erection of the Northern Power Corporation's $2,000,000 plant on the Metcalfe River about 20 miles north of Cobalt. The Cobalt Power and Paper Company is also to proceed this summer with a large plant in the Agoma district.

In Nova Scotia, work is under way on a $3,000,000 development on the Mersey River, while British Columbia the West Kootenay Power and Light Company has decided definitely to build the water of the Penit O'Neill River south of Nelson.

The improvement of transportation facilities is proceeding in step with the development of power. Both the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. have extensive programs under way in the newer districts in the west, and are building stations and other buildings.

At Toronto, the C.N.R. has just completed a large express terminal, while the Canadian Pacific has had one under construction, as well as a $1,000,000 coach yard. Work is progressing on the new station at Hamilton for the Canadian National, and depots at London and Windsor are proposed.

One of the most important of recent projects which has taken on concrete shape with the approval of plans by the federal government, is the new C.N.R. terminal for Montreal to cost, according to official estimates, at least $2,000,000.

Provincial governments in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick have launched highway construction involving the expenditure of more than seven millions. A large program of work is proceeding under the auspices of the federal government.

Industrialization of the Canadian west has also advanced during the past six months. Chrysler Motors, just starting the third unit of its new plant at Windsor, Ont., has announced a large automobile factory in Saskatchewan. In the meantime, General Motors will build a large assembly plant in Saskatchewan.

A $5,000,000 paper mill at Brooklyn, N.S. and another to cost $2,000,000 at Dalhousie, N.B., will further increase construction in the east.

Large Hotels Proposed

In addition to the $1,000,000 Arthur C. Hotel at Quebec, for which plans are now in course of preparation, a number of large buildings are now being contemplated. Rumor persists that the C.P.R. will enter the hotel field with a magnificent building in Montreal; a Toronto syndicate proposes to spend $1,000,000 on a hotel at Winnipeg, where the C.N.R. is also said to intend the expenditure of some $2,000,000 on a large structure; Edmondson is to secure one operated under the auspices of Blahy and Symond or the United Hotels Company of America.

Calgary, Winnipeg, Sudbury, London, Bramford, Toronto, Lindsay, Montreal, Quebec and Halifax will, in all probability, see new hospital buildings before the end of the year. Schools and churches are being erected in every part of the country.

DEAD SOLDIER'S GUARD

INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY

OTTAWA—Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador at Washington, has recently caused considerable comment when he announced that no future importations of liquor by the British Embassy would be made during its term of office. This was later modified slightly to permit the receipt of a number of shipments that had started on their journey before the ban was placed on spirits, but these were the last, most goods that will be placed in the embassy cellar.

Sir Esme Howard has been well aware of the trend of the times as regards liquor for many years. His exalted position has prevented him from voicing opinions which would surely conflict with those held either by the "drys" or the "wets," but this has not kept him from making an casual random observation at informal gatherings.

When he visited the Pacific coast a couple of years ago Sir Esme addressed the Canadian Club at Vancouver. His speech dwelt at some length on international amity and the cordial relations between Canada and the United States. The inevitable reference to the three-thousand mile boundary line without a fort or a cannon had been delivered with the usual hearty applause. And then, with a dry smile, Sir Esme proceeded:

"How could there be any serious trouble between these two great nations? There are no standing armies to challenge each other; there are no sentries posted to and fro; there are no spies on evil intent. In all the world's history, gentlemen, there is no other place exactly like the forty-ninth parallel. It is the only international boundary line that is guarded constantly by 'dead soldiers'."

The roar of laughter that followed this witty remark for many years. His all the members of the audience he recognized "dead soldiers" as a familiar term for an empty liquor bottle, left behind by United States tourists returning home to the land of the free.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Van Tighem visited St. Albert on Sunday to be present at the unveiling of the monument to Father Lacombe, when over three thousand people were present to do honour to the man who labored among the Indians for many years, and whom they called "The man with the good heart". The statue was unveiled by P. Burns, of Calgary, an old time friend of Father Lacombe. Father Lacombe and Father Van Tighem (uncle of Jos. Van Tighem) and Father Dubet, were among the early missionaries in Western Canada. During the Red rebellion in 1885, it was the influence of Father Lacombe that kept the Blackfoot Indians from joining in the rebellion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. B. Chamberlain and daughters Nora and Kate, have returned from a very interesting motor trip via the all Canadian route through the mountains, and to the coast. They also visited Spokane and Seattle. A day's sail on the Pacific Ocean made a delightful variation in the outing. Motoring through the Okanagan fruit district, they report a very abundant crop of cherries and berries. Although it is becoming the popular method, of seeing Canada's varied beauties of nature, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain report it a very wonderful trip.

Don't forget the date, July 26.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Frederick and family, accompanied by Mr. H. Stoydon, have returned after a motor trip through the Crow's Nest Pass, returning via Radium Springs, Marble Canyon, and Banff.

A most delightful social function was the dance last Saturday night arranged by Miss Elma Peterson, in honor of her friend and house guest, Miss Emma Saunders, of Vancouver. The Strathmore guests assembled at the attractive home of Miss Peterson, from whence they motored out to Chestermere Lake, where other guests from Calgary joined them. Miss Peterson was assisted in receiving the many guests by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson. The month's waiters, Lake Chestermere made a picturesque setting, and the pavilion erected for dancing, and the very excellent orchestra, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Penley, left no detail unprovided to insure the pleasure of the party. Dancing was thoroughly enjoyed until twelve o'clock, when the party motored to Miss Peterson's home, where delectable refreshments were served and heartily partaken of, interspersed with merry conversation and jest. Following the dancing was resumed, the guests being loath to depart. Those present were: Miss Emma Saunders, Consul and Mrs. S. C. Rest, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Yous, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melvin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miner, Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Norman Scher, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. C. FRUIT PROSPECTS
PENTICTON, B.C.—Fruit crop prospects in and around Penticton for this season appear to be excellent, although the bumper figures of 1928 are hardly likely to be reached. THE FORD CAR REAR AXLE

Expense no object in Achieving Perfection

THE rear axle of the Ford car is of the three-quarter floating type with spiral bevel gear. The pinion hub is exceptionally heavy, and, as the pinion is carried on double taper roller bearings, perfect alignment of the gear is always assured. The rear axle has a total of four roller bearings which add considerably to the cost of manufacture but are a protection for the owner against wear.

Special care is taken to insure silence in the pinion and ring gears. These are made up in sets and carefully matched, each set being run in to eliminate all possibility of noise in operation.

The differential side gears are forged integral on the rear axle shafts and the teeth then cut. This permits of lighter and more simple construction. The shafts are unusually strong, and, as the centre line of the wheel comes over the bearings, there is no overhang of the axle shaft, and it has no weight to support.

The use of malleable castings is eliminated in this new axle housing which is made entirely of steel. Bell forgings welded to steel tubing make up the shell housing which is bolted to an all steel differential housing. The care and skill devoted to the manufacture and assembly of rear axle parts is typical of the high standards of Ford engineering.

CANADA LEADS WORLD IN SELLING TO AMERICANS

OTTAWA—Canada sells more manufactured goods to the United States than any other country sells to this republic.

We cannot take Canadian figures for this statement, for Canada does not classify American imports. We have trouble enough classifying our own.

But trade information bulletin No. 626 of the United States department of commerce gives the following figures, showing the imports of the United States from 49 leading countries (95.2 per cent. of total imports) in the calendar year 1927. The figures for 1928 are not yet available.

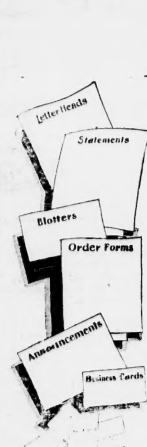

| Imports of manufactured goods into the United States during the calendar year 1927 totalled $478,297,000. | The following countries were the main source of supply: |
|--|---|
| Canada | $167,461,000 |
| United Kingdom | 150,124,000 |
| Germany | 105,737,000 |
| France | 102,212,000 |
| British India | 68,160,000 |
| Japan | 34,418,000 |
| Italy | 22,271,000 |

The American figures exceeding the movement of Canadian manufactured goods are slightly different from the Canadian figures, because classifications are different. Thus the American department of commerce aggregates food products. But flour is both a food product and a manufactured product. These differences may be noted, but they do not materially affect the comparisons.

Our exports of manufactured goods in 1927 amounted, roughly, to $475,000,000. The United States, therefore, took 3 per cent. of our total manufactured exports.

LITTLE IMPROVEMENT SHOWN BY CANADIAN EXCHANGES

TORONTO.—Hot weather and summer markets was the week's experience of traders on the Canadian stock exchanges. There was little to entice over in the week's trading which continues highly speculative purposes showing but little improvement. Here and there a few stocks went forward but not all held their new position throughout. Standard Steel was the most consistent gainer on the Toronto Stock Exchange and Canadian Oil made a gain and held most of it. International Nickel and Brazilian Traction were firm for short periods only.

As much as the Canadian markets would like to follow Wall Street at this time they are unable to do so. It is not so much the fact the situation has changed and the local lists have decided to pursue their own course, but it is due to forces at work in New York that do not play the same part in the local markets. Wall Street has developed into a professional affair with a following large enough to sway prices one way or another. Professional will make and seize all opportunities of taking a quick profit. A few points in either direction is all they require and it makes little difference whether prices go up or down so long as the movement of all charges and return a small margin of profit.

The character of the Canadian markets is different. The professional element is in a very small minority; it is sufficient to permit of manipulation and the influence exerted is not heavy enough to swing the entire list. Advantages is taken of advance information that should lead to an advance in an individual security to get in first and sell on the bulge when the news becomes public property. This is responsible for the ups and downs of most Canadian securities in today's market and is what is making for a confused market.

There are two sides to Wall Street—the long and short. In the Dominion the best markets are on the long or advancing side and when this has been played to a finish and prices decline there is not the short covering operation to bring about a sharp rally. Short selling is considered too dangerous by the vast majority of Canadian traders who will have nothing to do with it and do not believe in selling a security short which they have not in hand in the hope of buying back cheaper at a later date. The bulls in men's clothing may walk the street openly but the bears operate under cover and are to be found mostly in the backwoods or the wilds of the Dominion.

Lack of a short interest and professional operation, which makes the home exchanges slow down to a walk once the upward progress is brought to a close. Just as soon as the speculative enthusiasm dies out the character of trading changes entirely. The markets turn dull, the volume drops down and in the absence of buying order, prices decline. The only resistance the decline meets with is investment buying. There is no short interest to check the downward trend which is continued until the level drops to a point where the yield on dividend paying stocks becomes attractive enough to attract buying for investment purposes.

The first part of 1929 witnessed the speculator in control and along about May he was ready to throw up the sponge and let go of securities held on margin for profit. Selling finally got the upper hand of buying and one or two severe reactions were encountered followed by a gradual decline until fresh buying made an appearance following the market old story. Today's market is no different from others. The bull movement of the last few years was more pronounced than ever before in history owing to greater interest displayed on the part of the public but the corrective process following is the same old story. Speculators had their innings and made the most of it, now it is the investor's turn. The investor goes about his business in a canny way, knowing what he wants and when he wants it. His game is a waiting one, standing pat until it is possible to squeeze the best possible price out of the market, taking his time about it and holding off for months, if it will serve his purpose. He knows the speculator will tire given time enough and the time will come for him to reap his harvest.

Investors in the Dominion have had more experience than the speculator, particularly the new crop who until a few months ago gained all their experience in an advancing market. A great many traders for the first time passed through a reactionary market and by now realized a corrective process is bound to follow a wave of speculation such as was experienced on the Canadian exchanges. It does not compensate them to know the worm will turn later as they are too long far enough to the future.

At this stage it might be well to go back to the beginning of the year when Canadian financial institutions were holding their annual meetings and the remarks of the executives contained warnings that went unheeded for many months. A. E. Phillips, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, and general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, told shareholders of his institution he had not altered his opinion of the future of the Canadian market, the boom in stocks would result, sooner or later, in a crash of some kind, it was evident the warnings of bankers had utterly failed to stop the terrific pace of trading, and predictions as to when or how the situation would come to an end are useless.

Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal, said: "Happiest speculation on the stock exchanges, which has persisted over a considerable period, with wide ramifications, is a matter of concern to bankers. I need not tell you that the rise in prices cannot go on forever and that there is a well defined limit to how long on stock. My hope is that reaction may not be sudden or severe."

Sir Joseph Flavelle, president of the National Trust Company, was of the same mind when he told the institution's stockholders it was only natural to suppose that the general public, in the prevailing optimism as to the future of Canada's enterprise and the immense potential value of our resources, should keenly desire to participate in the profits to be derived from their development. The danger, according to Sir Joseph, was in the tendency to outrun too far the actualities of the present and discount too greatly in advance the expected favorable results of the future, without taking into account those less favorable features, which in a percentage of enterprises are bound to be encountered. Inflation in values is bound to result from such uncontrolled optimism, with the inevitable penalty which it brings to many when the tale is finally told.

All were right, even though it may have been hard to believe it at that time.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Jim Swanson was given a 10-cent (cigar) by Tom Grogan. Some time later, visiting Jim again, Tony was surprised that he should be remembered so enthusiastically, and so expressed himself. "Yes, I remember you very well," said Jim. "You gave me a cigar—twice a grand smoke. Why, even now I take a puff or two on it on the Sabbath."

Turner Valley customer: "I've found a tack in this doughnut!" "It is," agreed the little man, who was about to be shaved. "Frank tried again."

"What do you think about the fire by-law?" he asked.

"The same as yourself," said the little man.

"This was too much for Frank. Look here, sir," he added, "how on earth do you know what my opinion are?"

"I don't," said the customer, "but you've got the man."

Constable Wallate: "An ass saw you come around the bend I said to myself, 'Forty-five at least. Lady Driver: 'How dare you?' It's this hat that makes me look so odd."

Just Another Scotch Story

Mr. MacTavish (to the telephone): "Quick, send a doctor over right away—my little boy just swallowed a diamond!"

Operator at Physician's Exchange: "Yes, ma'am, we'll send a child specialist right over."

Bill Thirley says: "Man is but a worm. He comes along, wiggles a bit, then comes children get him."

A Jewish actor says that the stock market has driven many of his race mad, and would have you believe that at the synagogue the other Saturday he overheard the best next to him pray: "Please, God, take care of my wife, or health should be better, and mine son, 'ble, shouldn't be such a dunce in school, and mice dufer, Rosie shouldn't keep such late hours, and when he's a lovely push to Dalmeida and Madison."

Cambridge Girls' Hour—Baritone solo by Miss Doris Biles: "My Reel, Down! Knew Much About Betting!"

"I heard that Mr. Haddock beat her husband up last night."

"Yes, she found a card in his pocket and on it was 'Victory Ray—$25.00'."

Doctor: "Sit down, sonny, you have shown good manner long (to the boy). Small boy: "It ain't good manners doctor, it's a bell."

Mrs. Spokane G. Washington, a very large and colorful lady of color, remarked a badly battered husband into his home's chamber.

Joan: "He announced, 'dis bush no 'count, 'cause he did me wrong, paid me one cent on 'affinity to seven months. Ah! want's him jailed!'"

"Now look here, Fieck," his fiancee inquired, "can't you and Spoke settle this out of court?"

"No, sub," was the reply. "Ah! tried editorial times but de police always buttin' in."

Tony Grogan says: You are an old liner if you can remember—

When folks were vaccinated on the ice, so it wouldn't show;

When you bought a five-cent reclaimer of book and ate a dollar's worth of Limburger cheese, rye bread, liver sausage, tripe, herring, sauerkraut, and wild celery;

When you dressed up in your swell new twelve-dollar suit and took your first proper meeting behind a fat and frisky old mare stuffed with green clover;

When your old daddy looked at you best morning—after you had been out all almost tenthrity and said, as he sadly shook his head, "The young folks are certainly goin' to sell now-a-days!"

Here's a Scotch picknickers' anthem: "Newcomin' the silverware, Maggie, we'll use the fork in the road."

A Irishman and a Scotchman were passing a large Church in Calgary.

The Irishman took off his hat when they were passing. Sandy did the same.

After they had passed, the Irishman said to the Scotchman: "I didn't know you were a Catholic. I thought you were a Presbyterian. I was glad to see you take off your hat when you passed the Holy Church."

"Church!" said the Scotchman. "Mon, I thought it was the Royal Bask!"

More Time to Play

You can always find people to tell you that the country is going to the dogs because we're doing so much playing.

"When did your grandmother find any time to play? There was a woman for you!"

No doubt.

Just the same, we'd like to have given her a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, electric lights, running hot water, a telephone, baker's bread, delicious canned foods, an automobile and a set of golf clubs.

Can you picture grandfather's face? "Gone to the country club. Look in the ice-box."

Through advertising, science is giving us more and more time to play. Advertising is knocking minutes off every phase of household work from cooking to shopping, to give us leisure hours.

—and we're just using them as grandmother would have if she'd had the chance.

Read the advertising here in The Standard.

It will bring you more time to play.

NEW BRITISH POLITICAL PARTY IS PREDICTED

LONDON—Emerging from the Empire Crusade campaign for the abolition of tariffs through the British Empire and a tariff ring around it is a definite probability that Lord Beaverbrook, who inaugurated the movement, will lead a new political party in Britain. He himself is silent but those close to him are not hesitating to put him out as the leader.

One friend of the noted publicist informed the London United Press that Lord Beaverbrook has declared he does not want to head the movement, but, said the informant, there is no question of any other leader. He has launched a new political party which will split the Conservatives and split the Socialists and absorb the younger element of the Liberal.

The Empire Crusaders, as the new movement supporters are called, were at first considered another Beaverbrook stunt, but even in the comments of the free trade Press such as the Daily News and the Manchester Guardian, remarkable respect for Lord Beaverbrook is shown.

Lord Millett, the empire's leading industrialist, recently announced his support and he was followed by Lord McKenna, head of the Milbank and a former chancellor of the exchequer. The next to enlist was Sir John Ferguson, a leading banker who is carrying the Conservative colors in the Twickenham by-election and his endorsement thus throws a challenge to the entire Conservative party.

This morning the Daily Express announced that Sir Harry Macpherson, president and chairman of the Imperial Canadian Industries, Ltd., and one of the General Motors corporation of the United States, has also joined the movement.

Cutting Across Loyalties
Britain has now awakened to the fact that a new political party is cutting across all the old political parties and is practically assured of the most important vote in British politics in decades.

The effect on the Conservative organization was probably the greatest owing to the party's previous affiliations to similar schemes. Every day Conservative M.P.'s are coming out in support of the new movement, the latest recruit being P. J. Hanlon, representative in the commons for the St. Andrew district of Birmingham, Lord Beaverbrook's project has elicited the universal response from all parts of the country. Such announcements are raising perturbation at Conservative headquarters which see the handwriting on the wall.

Meanwhile the Daily News continues its attack on the Crusaders and publishes an article, by a Canadian, Lord Rind, pooling the possibility of Canada endorsing the scheme. On the other hand, Lord Beaverbrook is openly seeking the support of the other leading Liberal newspaper, the Daily Chronicle, which is owned by the Conservative industrialist, William Hanson.

The Standard will be glad to have the names of visitors in town and accounts of various social events for publication. Such communications should be signed and the address of the sender given. Readers in the surrounding districts are especially invited to send us news. We want to cover the whole of Bow Valley. Make the Standard and Your Home Paper.

EXPANSION PERIOD FOR DAIRY INDUSTRY AHEAD

A number of Canadian politicians have in the past time been making some very definite statements that the trade agreement with New Zealand and Australia was simply running the Canadian dairy industry into the ground. The Canadian dairy industry, however, is very interesting and informative article published in "Agricultural and Industrial Progress", published by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which does not endorse any such pessimistic view, neither can it be accused of over-optimism. The article is in the form of a letter to the editor of the King Government.

The Canadian dairy industry continues to make progress, according to reports from all parts of the country, and a further increase in the output of dairy products is to be expected for the year. The import and export trade, however, in butter has been in a broken process since the end of the war, but trade changes, rendering a visible turning from the maudlin to one of confidence, have somewhat obscured this advance, and submitted the accomplishment.

In opinion of authorities, the Canadian dairy industry has never been in a stronger position than at present and such opportunity exists for expansion. Comparing the figures of 1927 with those of 1921, there has been an increase of nearly 50 per cent. In the annual production of milk in Canada and an increase of over 50 per cent, milk used for other purposes.

While the figures of 1928 have not been made available, it was officially estimated that in butter and cheese production alone there was an increase of more than $1,360,000 in value during the twelve months ending in 1928. It is interesting to note in view of the misconceptions created by the heavy imports of butter that in 1928 the value of exports of milk and milk products went up by more than a million dollars.

The export value stood at $52,200,617 as compared with $24,752,723 in the previous year. Purchases by the United Kingdom accounted for $27,514,541 as compared with $10,900,000 in 1927. There was a decline in the export of cream, butter, milk powder, condensed milk, and evaporated milk, but this was more than compensated by the greater exports of cheese, while shipments of milk showed a slight increase. Exports of cheese declined from 25,900 cwt., worth $1,048,510, to 19,938 cwt., worth $80,550, all the principal importing countries—Newfoundland, Jamaica, Bermuda, United States, Trinidad, British West Indies, Japan, British Guiana, Barbados, St. Pierre and Miquelon and China—receiving smaller shipments to the United States being mainly responsible, there being increases to the United Kingdom and Japan.

Condensed milk shows a slight decline from 268,723 cwt., worth $2,171,660 to 264,248 cwt., worth $2,221,044. Several of the many customers for this commodity, however, increased their purchases, notably United States, Bermuda, British Guiana, Barbados, St. Pierre and Miquelon, Netherlands and Newfoundland. The decline in evaporated milk was more severe, dropping from 158,069 cwt., worth $1,991,414 to 146,903 cwt., worth $588,601. On the other hand, milk exports rose from 3,673,342 gallons worth $729,822 to 3,859,412 gallons, worth $869,929, this being entirely due to the United States. Cheese exports rose from 1,105,320 cwt., worth $22,512,448 to 1,141,525 cwt., worth $22,467,614. The United Kingdom was, of course, mainly responsible for this increasing its purchases from 341,581 cwt., worth $18,759.28 to 1,085,382 cwt., worth $22,867,322. There was also an increase in exports to Belgium, Bermuda, British South Africa, Barbados, Trinidad, other British West Indies, Hong Kong and Newfoundland.

Many of these men seem to be absolutely lacking in the matter of thrift and are very profligate in spending the earnings of the summer season, even when the winter season approaches and to let them starve during the winter season.

Some critics very loudly maintain that they are becoming almost a paternal, and that citizens of this type know it and rely take advantage of the situation, and give no heed to providing for themselves.

The criticism is not well placed and instead of being too paternal, the fact is it is not paternal enough.

Men of this type should be compelled to register when securing as distance, and then turn over for 100 future a portion of their earnings, which would be available for them in future winter seasons.

Any fellow who would refuse to do so, cut off his supply and let him starve for himself, in most cases the fact that he is broke after a season's employment is conclusive proof that he is lacking in the qualifications of taking care of his earnings, hence the necessity for some kind of a state or organization to protect him from himself.

In the cities there are dozens of beggars who subsist and make a fine living by making a business of firming people of this type of their surplus earnings.

AMERICAN JOURNAL DISCLOSES CLEARLY TARIFF QUESTION

While every farmer must realize that farm relief in the form of tariff protection will reduce his only of this money rather than his disability, the New Republic of New York publishes an analysis showing that the majority of wage and salary earners are exactly the same as the number of people, it suggests, which can conceivably benefit from this money in the United States is relatively small, only 8,000,000 out of a total of 42,000,000 workers.

The New Republic points out that in order to benefit by protection, an industry must produce something which would be imported if there were no tariff. Among the workers therefore whom protection cannot help are the following:

Coal miners,
The building and engineering trades,
Railroad workers,
Steamship workers,
Truck and trailer workers,
Electricity, gas and water workers,
Telephone and telegraph workers,
Workers in department stores, chain stores, mail order houses, jewelry stores, retail and wholesale workers in garages and gas stations and automobile salesmen;
Banking workers,
Teachers, doctors, lawyers, ministers, actors, artists—all professions.
Those engaged in personal service (not only hotels, but barbers, nurses, waiters, etc.).

Employees of governments—national, state and local,
Bakers and other producers of, and dealers in, perishable food products.
Most clothing workers,
Printers of newspapers and periodicals.

Makers of heavy and bulky building materials, or building materials which must be hauled made to order.

Other United States industries will not benefit from protection, for different reasons. The automobile industry (or instance, is conducted in the United States on such an efficient basis that its costs are lower than those of foreign time, which are therefore unable to compete. In addition, this industry has had a steadily expanding market which has meant almost no time employment for the workers for many years past. Woolen and cotton mills are also in a class which does not benefit by protection, the New Republic continues, for its troubles are mainly due to over competition at home and too much domestic competition.

Before reaching its final conclusion the paper points out that some farmers and stock raisers in the United States may conceivably gain something from tariff walls, though in the main the balance is against them.

"Where, then, do we stand? Making our estimate in round numbers and basing them roughly on the census of 1929, the following gallantly employed persons cannot be benefitted as producers by the tariff:

|---|------------|
| Farmers, miners and fishermen | 10,000,000 |
| Transportation, communication and trade workers | 7,000,000 |
| Professions, personal service, etc. | 8,000,000 |

|---|------------|
| Building and construction | 4,900,000 |
| Manufacturing (at least) | 5,000,000 |
| Any fellow who would refuse to do so, cut off his supply and let him starve for himself | 34,000,000 |
| And those who can receive some benefit include perhaps the remainder of the 8,000,000 gainfully employed, as follows: | |
| Farmers, miners, etc. | 2,210,000 |
| Factory and hand workers | 450,000 |
| Trade | 4,500,000 |
| Miscellaneous | 160,000 |

"These figures are admittedly very rough, and could be much improved by more detailed studies; but they sketch the broad picture. Why should the 34,000,000 increase by legislation the prices they have to pay for the products of the 8,000,000? Where is the national advantage to take a scheme? Much better to take the money, if we have it to spare, and spend it where it will really do the most good—in increasing national efficiency, in housing, in improving the status of really depressed industries such as coal and wheat farming, which the tariff cannot help. It is well to remember that the tariff is not a device which benefits anyone except a few down-trodden minorities—it actually injures the vast majority."

PRISONER GETS PUNISHMENT BEFORE RECEIVING SENTENCE

LONDON, Ont.—Bed bugs for the second time within a few weeks, occupants of the Carling street police station cells, attacked a prisoner. The case reported this morning was even worse than the one previously reported. On this latest occasion, the prisoner was too disabled to appear in court, and was ordered taken to his home under the care of a physician. Both eyes were almost completely closed, and his arms and legs were swollen to almost double their normal size, when police officers visited the cells this morning prior to bringing the prisoner, who was charged with driving while drunk, into the courtroom.

And this week "we have with us," as the Chairman of the proceedings might say, the latest official crop estimates. And what a story they tell! "No longer the added burden of increased surpluses and unsaleable 'carry overs.' No longer the 'fear of the much wheat in the world; but a lack and alas, the still greater fear and worse calamity of not enough wheat to feed the people."

"This, of course, is the darkest side of the picture, and like the earlier picture of over abundant crops, may not be the true picture at all. Whether true or not, and there is still room for the hope that, however 'artificial' may be adversely affected the worst may not happen to the crops. The fact, however, remains that the latest government crop reports, for both Canada and the States, appear to confirm, and more than confirm, the worst fears that in the past week or two have been entertained as regards the safety, particularly of the western Canada crops."

The actual and stark figures of the reports give little encouragement to those who vain would prefer to see at least "fair" crops, rather than either too abundant, in one sense, or too scarce or none at all, in the other. But as they are, we have to take them, and it prices go "up" as it now appears they must do, well then, we have to take that as a fact too, along with other contingent possible facts, such as better weather conditions, the result of higher prices, or of poorer business, should prices go too high and crops too low.

In any case, it is a serious drop in the latest estimated crop yields, as compared with the estimates of a month ago. The U.S. estimate for the winter wheat crop stands now at 582 million bushels; Durum wheat 56 million; Spring wheat, 132 million; all wheat showing a total of 823 million, as against 900 million bushels last year.

Of the Canadian government report, no actual figures as to yield were given, but taking acreage and "condition" the crop is variously estimated from 315 million to 350 million for the three western Canadian provinces.

It reports of conditions in the Prairie provinces issues since the government report was compiled, are to be relied upon, it is to be feared the half has not yet been told.

The Canadian Wheat Pool is again credited with a report. If anything, more sensational than anything that has up to the present been given out. It looks now as though the "carry over" from last season's crop, will come in very useful.

SIR HENRY THORNTON TO REMAIN WITH C.P.R.

Sir Henry paused. "The reason," he resumed, "there is a vast difference between the amount of transcontinental travel in the United States and that in Canada. There are more than 120,000,000 people in the United States and they do considerable travelling."

"There is no doubt a small percent age of Canadian travellers would come faster coast-to-coast service at this time. But the number is not sufficient to warrant establishment of a regular air and train service to day. "You must not assume that the Canadian National Railway is looking just an inch before his nose. We are looking years ahead and cannot help realize that the demand will come ultimately. We may, perhaps, anticipate that demand somewhat and even help create it. We are studying the matter in full detail so as to be ready for the time that will surely come."

Asked what he thought personally of aeroplane travel, Sir Henry declared that empirical methods were employed and the safety of passengers riding over the air lines of a properly equipped and managed company was absolutely assured.

"It is as safe as railroad travel, probably safer than automobile travel, and of course far more speedy than either. The one drawback at the present time is the great cost. I do not believe it will be long, however, before this is adjusted, but travel by air will never be as cheap as travel by train."

In answer to a query concerning the possible division of railroad and air travel Sir Henry smiled and answered with all the diplomacy and wisdom for which he is noted. "What the public demands the C.N.R. will supply," he said.

"I think it is safe to predict that the public will never want to hurry over the glorious scenery of the rocky mountain range through which the railroad passes." "From that we can assume at least part of the journey from Calgary to Vancouver will always be made by train," the Star prompted. "I feel sure of that," Sir Henry replied. "The scenery is too good to miss. One never tires of it and mountain travel by aeroplane will never be without risk and where there's risk the paying public seldom travels. No, if anything, all aeroplane travel in connection with Canadian Railroads will be made over the prairie divisions."
